Name: _____

Now that we have started a brand new school year, let's take some time to get to know one another! Find someone in our class that you don't know really well yet. Think of some questions that you could ask your partner to get to know him or her better. Interview your partner, writing down what he or she says in the boxes below. Once you have gathered your information about your partner, write a final biography that will teach others about him or her.
